The Cal Poly Retired Faculty and Staff Club will conclude this year's programming theme of showcasing Cal Poly's outstanding college based and university wide programs by putting the spotlight on Cal Poly Intercollegiate Athletics. Don Oberhelman, Director of Athletics, will join us to represent the significant contribution that Cal Poly Athletics is not only making on the field of play but also the comprehensive contribution that it is making directly to the student athlete and the university community as a whole.

Don will extend invitations to coaches and student athletes who will speak to their specific sport and experiences and in doing so, transcend the entire 10 Men's and 10 Women's sports and the approximately 550 student athletes who represent the University at home events and off campus/travel events across the state and nation. Cal Poly Athletics, who recently provided the foundation for the University's THE MUSTANG WAY, takes great pride in its campus partnership role contributing to the development of each and every Cal Poly student.

RETIRED FACULTY AND STAFF CENTENNIAL SCHOLARSHIP

In this interim report, the Fair Market Value of the Centennial Scholarship reflects the current upswing in the investment market. Being subject to the various fluctuations in the market, the value at this time is the highest recorded since establishing the endowment. We are fortunate it remains in good hands and allows us to continue to support an annual scholarship to a promising incoming freshman. In our last Newsletter, we announced the 2012-2013 recipient, Kathrine Muirhead, an Environmental Engineering major from Southern California. We look forward to inviting Kathrine to join us at an upcoming event.

Fair Market Value (March 31, 2013): $109,027

Please keep in mind that your designated contributions and lifetime membership fees go directly into the endowment's Principal balance and provide the anchor needed for continued scholarship funding. Thank You to all who continue to support this effort.
